I'm hoping we have the same answers, but I dare not ask the question.Â
Instead I will gladly continue feeding quarters to this shopping center pony ride for my virtual amusement. But you just walk on by, with that sweet smile and your ice cream cone is not even dripping onto your hand.
You make it look so easy. Like, "What ice cream? Oh this ice cream? Yeah, it's delicious".
If I was ice cream under a warm summer sky, I would stay frozen if but for another moment's chance to touch your lips.
