

Look Here First

By Aaryn

© Copyright Aaryn. All rights reserved.

I keep thinking that I've lost something and for days I will look until I finally give up, figuring that the cracks of the universe needed it more than I did.

And then I will sit down one day and open up this book and it will fall out, hidden here within two discreet pages all along.

Next time I should remember to look here first because it's always got what I'm looking for and it's full of pleasant surprises.

This book is me, and in it I will find all that I am missing.

StoryImp Advertisement

